SHORT STORIES ABOUT REAL ESTATE TITLES

Mrs, V. purchased in 1881 valuable property near Central Park. A

UNDISCOVERED B., had died in 1835, supposedly unmarried and intestate. His brother and sister had taken the property and conveyed it by apparent good title. After Mrs. V.'s purchase, it was discovered that B. had married and had bequeathed, by will, all his property to his widow and one child. The heirs of this child had rapidly increased in fifty years, and had scattered throughout the Union. Deeds from all of these heirs were necessary to perfeet the title. After years of searching, all were found and the title made good at a cost to Mrs. V. of many thousands of dollars. INSURE IN THE
